TOPIC: If I could travel back in time I would...

One late night, when hiking in the mountains, you come across a time machine. Now that you have the ability to go back in time, what time would you choose to travel to? Would you go back a month to fix a fight you had with your friend, or would you go back 230 million years to when dinosaurs existed? What would you see and do? Why is that time important and what would you change if you could?

Write a personal narrative essay between 350-500 words answering this question.
